DAVIDE PENSO ARTIST PROFILE

I began my working career as a photographer, but growing up and living in Murano it was inevitable that I should be captivated by glass and end up making its exploration my life's work. As a red-blooded Italian, I love the fairer sex, and for decades my primary motivation has been to make beautiful glass jewellery, using flameworking techniques.

Another consuming interest is diving and I have swum in oceans all over the world. The sensation of being suspended underwater provides an indescribable feeling of peace and quiet. It was inevitable that I would eventually bring these two essential parts of my life together, and try to find a way of expressing this tranquil beauty through my knowledge and experience of flameworking.

My inspiration comes from the movement and flow of water and the beautiful things that inhabit this magical kingdom. I use the shapes and colours I see there to realise my thoughts and visions and hope that my work speaks directly to the hearts of those who view it.
